Emory and Henry College
We call attention to the advertisement of Emory and Henry College, which appears in this issue. This old institution has a well-established and recognized place in the educational work of the South. It was established in 1836, and has educated more than ten thousand young men. Within the last five years great improvements have been made in the material equipment of the school. New buildings have been erected, a water system installed and laboratories newly furnished.

During the past year there was an enrollment of 226 students. The friends of the institution will rejoice to

JIM CURETON WAS MURDERED

Young Negro Whose Body Was Brought Here Last Week Was Third Victim.

Jim Cureton, the young colored man who went to Jefferson City a week ago for the purpose of securing his clothing, and who came back to Newport the night following in a coffin, as was told in last week's issue of THE NEWPORT PLAIN TALK, did not die a natural death, but instead had been murdered.

The Jefferson City Watchman had the following in reference to this death last week:

"Last Sunday night another negro supposed to be Cureton of Newport, was found dead near the camp cars on the the Southern Railway tracks just West of the depot at Jefferson City. He was warm when found with a hole knocked in his skull. It is said that this is the third negro found dead at about the same place within the last year, and no efforts by the minions of the law have been made to discover the perpetrators of these crimes. How long shall these crimes be permitted right here under the shadows of colleges, churches and temples of justice? Echo answers, 'How Long!'"

Crowd at the Cove

A big crowd gathered at the Jones Cove Tuesday to celebrate the Fourth, and many people from Cooke county were in attendance.
